

Avengers 101: How to Defeat Dr. Doom

Homework 2 | Fictional training simulation | Total: 100 points

Dr. Doom has activated a completely imaginary Plot Armor Shield over the city museum and replaced every exhibit label with his autobiography. Plan a safe, nonlethal resolution. Use only this scenario; no Marvel canon knowledge or online research is needed. Invented technology is welcome.

Answer each of the five questions in 1-3 sentences. Each question is worth 20 points: 5 points for each explicitly addressed criterion below (present = 5; missing or contradicted = 0). Funny answers are welcome, but humor alone earns no points. Do not infer an unstated plan from a character's reputation.

1. Is that actually Doom?

How would you check whether the villain is Dr. Doom or a Doombot? Required: independent identity check; specific decoy clue; acknowledgment of uncertainty; reversible next step.

2. Assemble a team

Choose three heroes and explain how they would work together. Required: three named heroes; distinct roles; coordination method; backup plan.

3. Protect the public

Explain how you would get civilians out of the fictional danger zone. Required: evacuation route; safe meeting place; accessibility assistance; headcount or missing-person check.

4. The dramatic shield

Invent a harmless, clearly imaginary way to switch off Doom's Plot Armor Shield. Required: imaginary mechanism explained; limitation; safe test; fallback if it fails.

5. The after-action meeting

Write a tiny debrief after the mission. Required: outcome; evidence supporting that outcome; one mistake owned by the team; specific improvement.
