

Avengers 101: How to Defeat Dr. Doom

Shuri | Homework 2 | Fictional submission

1. Is that actually Doom?

I compare his armor signature with an independent Wakandan scan; a repeated prerecorded monologue is a Doombot clue. Neither is conclusive, so I pause the approach and request a remote identity check. Nobody gets punched for failing CAPTCHA.

2. Assemble a team

Doctor Strange handles portals, Spider-Man guides civilians, and I handle sensors. We coordinate on one radio channel; if it fails, we retreat to the library and use agreed hand signals. The library also has better Wi-Fi than Tony.

3. Protect the public

Guide everyone along the marked east walkway to the museum courtyard. Assign buddies and step-free transport for people who need assistance, then compare a headcount with the evacuation list. The gift shop does not count as a missing person.

4. The dramatic shield

My imaginary Compliment-to-Confetti Converter turns shield energy into paper confetti when Doom accepts praise. It fails if he refuses the compliment; test it first on a toy shield with nobody nearby. If it fails, withdraw behind our fictional bubble dome. Finally, an engineering application for his ego.

5. The after-action meeting

Doom surrendered and all civilians arrived safely, supported by the surrender recording and matching headcounts. We accidentally muted our medic; next time we will run a role-by-role radio check. The mute button has been denied tenure.